Carver High School

Hello Readers! Class officers for the ninth grade have just been sent in to us. They are: president, Winston Jones; vice-president, Earl Lambert; secretary, Yvonne Stevens; assistant secretary, Willie Lilly; treasurer, Eugene Browder; chaplain, Leon Turner. The ninth graders had an important class discussion on Tuesday on good manners and how to associate with others.

The eighth grade girls are practicing softball in Physical Ed. Truemellow Ferguson, Dorothy Turner, Gloria Jenkins and Helen McCoy are good players. They began archery on Tuesday.

The seventh grade, numbering 49, are housed in the "Old Mud Street Academy," and eight are over to the old CC Camp with Mrs. Cook. Even though they are apart they are together in spirit. Officers for this class are: President, Orestha Patterson; vice-president, Maxine West; secretary, Hazel Caldwell; reporters, Catherine Humbles Thelma Austin.

As for personalities in this class: Annie Megginson's dream boy is who, we wonder? Celestine Chambers and Claude Lambert are always chatting away at recess. We wonder why Hazel Caldwell, Clara Ferguson and Josephine Johns are not the close pals they were last year.

The tenth graders seem interested in their algebra. Hiawatha Johnson, where were you? Could it be because you have been elected president of the tenth grade, and also a member of the student council that we haven't seen you lately?

Mary Evans of the eleventh grade spent the week-end with her mother in Roanoke.

The Junior Class has set up some of its objectives for the year. They are: Sponsor a junior talent show, sponsor a Thanksgiving dance, sponsor a Christmas play, and sponsor a Valentine dance. In the spring they plan a trip to Williamsburg, Va.

The New Homemakers of America have organized the local chapter. Officers are:

President, Hiawatha Johnson
Vice-pres., Gerald Hicks
Secretary, Willy Lilly
Treasurer, Donald Hart
Reporter, Algie Williams
Watchman, Eugene Harris
Historian, Otheaplus Johnson
Parliamentarian, Ted Reed
Song leader, Eddie Lilly.

A carnival was held at the school Thursday night.

The Countywide P.-T. A. meeting was held Monday night, October 8, for reorganizing. The newly elected president is Charles Marshall. Charlie Williams is vice-president; Mrs. O. Smith, secretary; Mrs. Mary Tanner treasurer.

Until next week: "Democracy is on trial in the world, on a more colossal scale than ever before."

Colored Dots

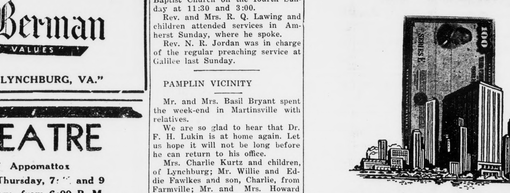
A dollar investment that tops them all


Every well managed investment portfolio includes a substantial proportion of debt securities—obligations to pay a definite number of dollars, with a definite amount of interest, by a definite date. Such securities form the cornerstone of a sound investment program, for like life insurance and savings accounts, their value in dollars stays fixed and certain.
United States Defense Bonds are the highest type of all debt securities, for behind them are the full faith and credit of the United States. Today they have an added attraction in that Series E Bonds need no longer be redeemed at their original ten year maturity, but may continue to bear interest at a fixed rate for an additional ten years.
United States Defense Bonds are more than a profitable dollar investment. They offer an important way to help your country at the same time you help yourself.

Series E
10-Year (Optional 20-Year) Appreciation Bonds yield 2.9% compounded semi-annually if held for full 10 or 20 years. Redeemable after 60 days from issue date. Purchase price as low as $18.75.
Series F
12-Year Appreciation Bonds yield 2.53% interest compounded semi-annually when held to maturity. Issued in the names of corporations and partnerships as well as individuals. Redeemable after 6 months from date of issue.
Series G
12-Year Current Income Bonds. 2.5% is paid semi-annually by check. Redeemable after 6 months from date of issue. Issued to individuals and other non-bank investors.

Nitrofuran Chewing Gum Users Develop Fewer Dental Cavities

Another development in research on tooth decay was made known recently when two scientists reported on a preliminary experiment with a sugar-free chewing gum containing a nitrofuran.

Nitrofurans are substances used principally as anti-bacterial agents in dressings for wounds to prevent infection.

Writing in The Journal of the American Dental Association, Dr. Samuel Derizen and Dr. Thomas D. Spies, of the department of nutrition and metabolism of Northwestern University, Chicago, said that a group of individuals who chewed the specially-prepared gum immediately after eating showed a substantial reduction in dental decay.

"Because of the relatively small number of patients included in this study," the scientists cautioned, however, "these findings must be considered as preliminary in nature."

Their report was based on a one-year study of 89 persons between the ages of six and 38 at Hillman Hospital, Birmingham, Ala.

During the test period, an experimental group of 30 persons chewed the gum for at least 10 minutes directly after each meal. A second group of 25 persons chewed a similarly-prepared gum not containing the nitrofuran. The third group did not chew any gum.

X-ray examinations at the end of the year revealed that the experimental group had developed an average of only .8 new cavities compared with an average of 3 new cavities for the group that chewed the specially-prepared gum without the nitrofuran. In the third group an average of 3.8 new cavities developed.

Duchess of Windsor Named Among Fascinating Women

CHICAGO—The History Research Department of The BOOK HOUSE FOR CHILDREN has selected the Duchess of Windsor as "one of the ten most fascinating women of all times."

Others named in an evaluation made to determine the outstanding "femme fatales" down through the ages were nearly all women who helped to make history or to break it.

They include: Salome, Cleopatra, Helen of Troy, Marie Antoinette, Catherine the Great of Russia, George Sand, Mata Hari, Zenobia, and Theodora, a musical comedy star who ascended to the throne of the Byzantine Empire through her marriage to the great emperor, Justinian.

The beauteous Zenobia, who ruled the Kingdom of Palmyra in the Arabian Desert during the third century A.D., was a descendant of Cleopatra.

"Also rans" in the balloting were Mary Garden; Sappho, the Greek poetess; and Lady Wu, the harem girl who became Empress of Ancient China.

Plastic Eyeglass Frames Attractive and Durable

Plastics improve on natue in their variety of colors, their beautiful textures, and their design. But the plastics that are used for making eyeglass frames are much more than merely attractive. They are soft and smooth, yet tough and almost unbreakable. They can be accurately tailored to give just as scientific a fitting and placing of lenses as do metal frames. But they, like metal, must go through many complex processes before they can meet the exacting standards of spectacle frames.

Optical plastic is called zylonite. The raw material for it is either cotton or clean wood pulp. This is dissolved to make a sort of cellulose jelly, which can be dyed or tinted and given decorative effects by mixing with it wood-flour or pigments or, sometimes, aluminum powder. In this stage it is plastic and can be formed into any shape. Then it is baked and becomes permanently hard, strong and transparent.

Flat sheets of this plastic are run through a series of precision machines. The first one drills holes that are very accurately located where the optical centers of the lenses will later be put. Then another machine cuts out the entire frame to make any one of a wide variety of fashionable shapes. Next the frame moves to a machine which cuts tiny slots and holes where the hinges for the earpieces are to be inserted. Still another precision cutter takes out pieces that have exactly the shape of the lenses, and then makes gooves to hold the lenses.

Meanwhile, in other machines strips of zylonite are cut into the right length for earpieces and ground on a lathe to give them the proper thickness and curvature. In the next operation, holes are drilled in these earpieces for attaching the hinges. Now the entire frame is ready to be put together.

Powdered Peaches Produced By U.C. Food Technologists

BERKELEY — Canned peaches may soon be available in several new forms, says W. V. Cruess, professor of food technology, University of California College of Agriculture.

Crushed, pureed, thickened for pie fillings, and julienne style canned peaches have been produced, Cruess explained, in an attempt to eliminate waste from overproduction of clings for regular canning.

Cruess, working on this problem with Rolle O'Neal and William Rivera in the food technology department, has also produced dehydrated shoestring peaches, vacuum dried peach "nuggets," powdered peaches for baked products and puddings, and candied peaches.

These new products were reported at the annual meeting of the Institute of Food Technologists in New York.

DO YOU HAVE ENOUGH FIRE INSURANCE?

When that question is asked after a disastrous fire, it generally refers to the amount of insurance carried—and to the extended coverage. And it refers to the amount of insurance in relation to the higher cost of building today.

But 'enough' insurance can also refer to the items covered by fire insurance. Not only the house, but also other buildings . . household effects . . machinery . . workshop tools . . valuable personal items . . everything of value.

The J. W. CONNER INSURANCE AGENCY is at your service any time —ready to help your arrange for 'enough' fire insurance to cover your property and personal needs. Why not call 2641 and take advantage of this advisory service. There's no obligation.
